

DEKONSUMPCJA

8-10.05.2009

Warsaw Festival of Ethical Consumption
Cafe Kulturalna, Teatr Dramatyczny, Kinoteka, Plan B, Powiększenie
8-10 May 2009

Do-It-Yourself. Fix it. Swap it. There are plenty of alternatives to consumption. And when you do buy something, do it consciously. Don't let yourself get lost in the whirlwind of consumerism. Think about what you throw into your shopping cart, why you're buying it, for whom, and what the consequences of your purchases are. Find out what type of world your money is creating.

For years we've been looking for the most socially responsible and ecologically-sound means of living. If we look beyond our doorstep, we'll quickly find out that Warsaw becomes a playground for our positive actions: markets with locally-sourced food, second-hand stores, balconies and community gardens which are just begging us to start planting, and above all, people willing to get involved. Let's make use of the knowledge of all the generations around us. Because consumer awareness is nothing new. It's not too hard either. During the „Dekonsumpcja” festival weekend you'll find out what alternatives to consumption are out there and why it's worth getting involved.

eFTe Warsaw, in cooperation with the DocReview festival, Cafe Kulturalna, Dramatyczny Theatre, and club Plan B invite you to the second annual festival celebrating consumer awareness. You're in for a weekend full of activities, debates, and collaborative meetings to find new ways of breaking old habits and becoming aware consumers.

What's the eFTe Warsaw Group?

Made up of a friendly bunch of people that think and act for ethical consumption, we aren't experts, but try to learn as much as we can about the consequences of our choices as consumers. What excites us most is trying to share our knowledge. eFTe is about people, thinking, acting, and everyday consumer choices.

If you want to know more or meet us, write us a message!
